

Can Long Island be Beaten?

In the previous nine New York State Intersectional Wrestling Tournaments, athletes from Long Island's Sections Eight and 11 have provided the team champion on six occasions, including last year, when Section 11 triumphed with 82 points.

Long Island has always been a hotbed of wrestling in this state, and the upstate teams have had great difficulty outscoring the muscular squads from both Nassau County (Section Eight) plus Suffolk County (11).

This year should be no exception as both Long Island teams come to the War Memorial with highly-touted grapplers. The Suffolk delegation includes four more matmen from Brentwood, the team which furnished three state champions at the War Memorial last year.

This weekend, the sections that rate the best chance of edging out Long Island's best in the battle for team honors are the only upstate sections that have ever interrupted the Long Island dominance—Section Three (Central New York) and Section Four (Binghamton-Ithaca-Elmira region).

Section Three has seen a tremendous surge of interest in wrestling the past three years, and the gold-garbed CNY team placed first in 1970, second to Section 11 last year. The host team again looks very strong, and could surprise the perennial Long Island favorites.

Section Four won the state title in both 1965 and 1969, but slumped badly last year, finishing ninth. This year, that team looks much-improved and may surprise some opponents this weekend.

All eleven New York State sections are again represented here, and Syracuse wrestling supporters bid welcome to all of our fellow mat followers.

This tenth annual tourney should be action-packed since only the champions from all over the state have qualified for this event. Their individual records are tremendous. At 126 pounds, for instance, the entire field shows only six losses, with competitors in that class sporting the following records: 22-0, 23-0, 25-1, 26-2-1, 19-0, 20-3, 12-0, 17-0, 18-0, 20-0, and 26-0-1.

That 126-pound field includes defending state champion Bob Antonacci of Brentwood, 26-0-1.

Although mighty Brentwood is considered to be at the top of New York State in this sport, it should be noted that coach Stan Riggs' Peru High team of Section Seven has earned 115 straight dual meet wins over nine years, and that streak is believed to be the nation's longest.

A pair of Section Six teams, Niagara-Wheatfield and Portville, also both own long win streaks, and those two both have qualified athletes here in the state finals today.

Again this year, no pre-meet seedings have been issued, and as pairings for this event were drawn from a hat. This practice is the fairest possible, although it does mean, of course, that two of the best wrestlers in a particular weight class could meet in the first round.

One example of that inevitable event this year may occur at 105 pounds, where Bob Sloand of Niagara-Wheatfield tangles with Glenn Reed of Valley Stream South in the first match. Those two are rumored to be among the state's very best.

To the outstanding wrestler today will go a trophy, awarded by the New York State Sports Writers' Association for the third straight year. The previous award winners, as voted by the working press, were heavyweight champion Mike Phillip of Cooperstown (Section Three) in 1970 plus John Cuyler of Elmira Free Academy (Section Four) last March.

A special note of congratulations today should be extended to our own Section Three wrestling chairman, Reed Hawke of Jamesville-DeWitt. An able organizer who has supervised all the state tournaments in Syracuse in recent years, Hawke has been chosen as the next New York State Wrestling Chairman, and will begin those duties next year.

Today, to all teams and wrestlers, we in Syracuse extend our congratulations for having earned a trip to the New York State Intersectional Tournament. Good luck, and we hope you enjoy your state finals, win or lose.
